

Volunteer on the land!

Help grow food and eat it

It's great getting outside and doing things together in nature!

Following several volunteer tree-planting days, here are some other opportunities to get involved in our regenerative agroforestry projects.

Meet in the studio for a cuppa, then walk to the field to do things like planting out, weeding, harvesting, hedge-lay, mulch young trees – whatever is on the list!

Come along and join us for a few hours / day, learning and working together. We'll provide a hearty lunch and refreshments. Just bring a bottle of water, a pair of gardening gloves, suitable footwear and a curious mind.
